

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to salon and spa tools comprising a head region and a handle region, the handle region comprising a stem, the stem having a deformable grip that is adapted to receive at least a portion of the stem into itself.